SHOW NOTES · PODCAST INTRO · PANEL

SHORT BIO

MEDIA KIT STANDARD

Andrea Bolden is a business lawyer and IP monetization strategist with nearly two decades of practice. She works with consultants, coaches, and advisory firm founders who have proven methodologies and want to build scalable, ownable assets from them. Most advisors can think strategically or draft enforceable agreements; Andrea does both in one engagement, so her clients don't lose the business logic in the handoff to a lawyer who doesn't understand it. She provides legal services through Goldmine Business and IP Law.

SPEAKER BIO

LONGER · LIVE-DIAGNOSTIC HOOK

Andrea Bolden is a business lawyer and IP monetization strategist who has spent nearly twenty years working where most professionals can only work one side: the line between business strategy and enforceable law. She helps expert consultants and advisory founders answer a question most have never been asked clearly — what in your business is actually ownable, and what is quietly exposed? Walk her through a methodology and she'll tell you which parts can be licensed or certified, which depend on a person and cannot, and where a well-intentioned arrangement is about to trip a legal obligation nobody saw coming. That diagnostic is what she brings to a microphone, a panel, or a room. She provides legal services through Goldmine Business and IP Law.
